

NEWPORT_general description of the model

Design by Studio Plazzogna

Newport's sartorial details create a classic elegance that manages to be amazingly modern yet fully compatible with the most diverse furnishing styles. Newport kitchens are aimed at a global market and satisfy international tastes. Essential design allows wood – the noblest of materials – to find a contemporary form of expression.

Typically classic details, like shaker doors and large areas of glass, merge perfectly into a kitchen composition characterised by distinctive linearity. Newport kitchens are extremely versatile and ideal for both metropolitan and traditional contexts. The lightweight peripheral frame of the doors features inward-sloping vertical elements that contrast with the slender horizontal elements featuring practical handles.

Thick vertical side panels are another important feature. These can be fitted between base cabinets and tall units to delineate space and add rhythm to the composition or to create open compartments of refined style.

A wide range of worktops, all perfectly compatible with Oak and Ash in Decapé Liscio and with the matte lacquer finishes of the doors, gives the Newport kitchen a decisive personality.

The Newport range also includes living zone furnishings.

Sideboards, open elements and suspended displays offer infinite design opportunities. Compositions allow refined stylistic details to dialogue among themselves and cleverly flavour the warm sensations of wood with striking touches of industrial chic.

Newport blends the needs of style and tradition without compromising the excellent ergonomics and functionality typical of Stosa kitchens, which are universally acclaimed for innovative solutions and top-quality materials.
